
staff?

idea, as i'm going to have roughly 10-20 seats that will be free to staff and volunteers, it would be nice to have an easy way to add these. i know currently it actually uses real and registered users. a way to add 'fake' users or participants would be nice :)

just a thought

Not a too big fan of this idea. There are other ways of doing this.

All your staff and volunteers should have an account on your website. Then you can add them to the list of participants and directly assign them a seat through the backend as well without them having the need as being marked as "paid".

Doing it your way would cause a too big mess in the database which I do not want :D

yea, just how i've seen it done on other lans, a block of 15 seats are reserved for Staff, that way they just don't have to deal with the registration process. i'll work something out i guess :)

You know you can place these "VIP-Seats"? They are only available for people in a special group (anything other than "Registered", I think).
